Green Charter

By signing this charter, our companies are committing to:

- Promote simple actions at work such as choosing reusable water bottles, turning off lights after use, using refillable pens, shutting off laptops after use and taking the stairs between floors.
- Encourage walking, biking, scootering, public transit, car sharing and carpooling as the main means of commuting to work.
- Replace physical tools with digital technology by using virtual notetaking, dual screens, electronic signatures and IP telephony.
- Print only as much white multi-purpose paper as necessary.
- Aim to recycle a maximum of paper.
- Continue sorting waste at workstations, in meeting rooms or in the employee kitchen.
- Encourage open projects initiated by subsidiaries to implement new innovative green initiatives and participate in ecological or environmental restoration projects.
- Practice responsible consumption by giving outdated office furniture and equipment to employees and then to charities before contacting a recycling company.
- Dispose of obsolete computer equipment by donating to charities or by dismantling parts that can be donated to recycling associations.

Optimum Green Award

In February 2023, the Group-wide Environmental Committee announced the launch of the first edition of this annual award which aims to raise the awareness of all employees and encourage concrete actions in the workplace to protect our beautiful planet. This award is based on four criteria: paper reduction, simple gestures, daily commute and innovative projects.

Trainings on simple gestures

In June 2023, 48 employees from Canada and the United States attended a training on the basics of recycling with fun interactions.

A training on virtual note-taking is planned for fall 2023.

Diversity and inclusion

Diversity and Inclusion Charter

By signing this charter, our companies are committing to:

- Promote the application of non-discrimination and ethics principles to guide our actions and decisions, especially in all stages of human resources management.
- Foster the recognition, promotion and retention of all talents, regardless of their differences, and support them through corporate policies and a climate of trust.
- Educate and train our managers involved in recruitment, training and career management on the added value of diversity.
- Proudly demonstrate our commitment to all stakeholders so that they are encouraged to implement and apply these principles.
- Act on all levers to foster gender equity in a way that accurately represents the population.
- Provide a safe and healthy workplace where our employees can be their authentic selves and fully express their potential.

Diversity and Inclusion Survey

In February 2023, the Group-wide Diversity and Inclusion Committee launched an optional and anonymous survey to assess our current diversity, identify areas for improvement and track our progress.

- 310 respondents completed the survey, which is an exceptional participation rate of 50% among Optimum's employees (compared to 40% in the market)
- 36% of respondents, or at least 18% of Optimum's employees, are members of diversity, which we define as follows: member of an Indigenous community, person of a visible minority, person who has a sexual orientation other than heterosexual, person with a disability, as well as a neurodivergent person.

Humanist Activity

A convivial breakfast is planned for fall 2023 to promote universality of thought, celebrate the richness of our diversity and support our culture of inclusion. On the program, testimonials from colleagues, musical performance and traditional dishes.

Philanthropy

Annual fundraising campaign

Since 2022, Optimum and its employees generously support vulnerable women who experience violence by donating various items and volunteering with four regional organisations playing a key role in supporting and housing victims.

During the first annual Group-wide fundraising campaign in November 2022, cumulative donations to the benefit of the four regional organisations reached nearly CAD 118,000 to give back to the communities in which we operate.

This campaign includes an awareness activity, a sports challenge, a virtual auction and draws.

Collection Drives

Our employees organize several clothing, hygiene products, home essentials and toys item drives throughout the year.

International Help Signal

Signal for help is a one-handed sign someone can use on a video call to safely show they need help. In May 2022, 46 employees from Canada and the United States joined an educational webinar presented by the Canadian Women's Foundation.
